Che cosa mangiate di solito in Irlanda?

TEACHING AND LEARNING CONTEXT

The students were learning about aspects of the target language country in relation to everyday living and social conventions. They were also learning to write short descriptions about present and future events and to analyse similarities and differences in relation to their peers' lives in the target language countries in the areas of eating habits. In this task the teacher gave the students a piece of stimulus in the form of a Whatsapp message and asked them to respond orally or in writing.

Students select their best texts within the timeframe stipulated by the NCCA. They are free to choose any three items they have created over the time period, to submit for assessment, as long as at least one text is in oral format and at least one text shows awareness of aspects of the country/ countries and/ or culture of the language. Teachers assess each text individually using the features of quality. Expectations of the standard they achieve will be at a level appropriate to their age and experience at that stage in their language learning in junior cycle.

TEACHER ANNOTATIONS USING THE FEATURES OF QUALITY

Ideas are communicated clearly enough to be understood with limited fluency, accuracy and a range of vocabulary. There are number of foods listed, as appropriate to the task (“mangiamo panino con salsiccia, pancetta, uovo per colazione”; “panino con pollo”; “patata, carne e verdure”) and while the student’s repertoire is slightly limited, they made good use of chunks and pre-prepared phrases (e.g. “Non vedo l’ora di vederti; “Ci sentiamo presto”).

Overall the student’s pronunciation is good (“gli”; “mangiano”), however there are some difficulties with intonation and feedback might point to placement of the stress on the appropriate syllable (e.g. “amano”).

The text reveals a limited awareness of language patterns although there is a lack of definite and indefinite articles at times. There is however a good awareness of language and social conventions, as demonstrated in the opening and closing sections of the message which clearly addresses Luca, i.e. the audience, and responds appropriately to the stimulus (“Ciao Luca”; “Non vedo l’ora di vederti. Ci sentiamo presto.”) and which shows awareness of the purpose for the communication.

Feedback could also point to expanding more on this explaining the differences between Irish and Italian food however this is a piece of work that shows a good understanding of the task in hand and is generally competent.
