

Woodlands vs Forestry

Keywords

- Forestry
- Woodlands
- Environment
- Controlled
- Trees

What is a forest

- A forest is used by businesses for wood on projects, furniture, buildings and more

What is a woodland

- A woodland is used for the people/animals for walks and living in

What are the benefits of forests

- Forests provide us fresh air
- Forests keep the earth cool by reducing global warming
- They provide homes for all living creatures
- They prevent soil erosion and control floods
- They provide food, medicines and many other resources
- They promote Ecotourism

Controlled

- A forest is more controlled than a woodland

Trees

- They both have different kinds of trees but a trees for a forestry are chosen and woodland trees were chosen by the environment

Animals

- In forests wildlife can not really live there because they would have to relocate their homes if it is destroyed
- In woodlands wildlife can live there for longer than a forestry. More likely small animals live in woodland unlike deer

Forestry's and woodland in my area

- Forestry's
- Roundwood timber ltd, coillte, John Deere forestry ltd
- Woodlands
- Devils glen, Avondale

Conclusion

- I learnt about the benefits that both woodlands and forestry's and how they help the world
- I found this project challenging yet fun. It was difficult because there isn't that much of a difference between woodland and forestry's they both help the world around us. I found it fun also because to see the change of happens over time to these places
- My opinion on my project is that forestry's are better because they are good for the environment and things like buildings and projects

Teacher Annotations

The research method used was appropriate for the student to generate good analysis of the findings.

The Classroom-Based Assessment had strong links to a local and global issue.

The evaluation was relevant and where the conclusion was accurate, it was brief.

Presentation of the findings was very effective and communicated some key findings for the chosen topic.

Overall Judgement

In line with expectations

